

Beyond Diversity: Understanding and Cultivating Inclusion in the Workplace

The revolving door in many of our nation's organizations is bleeding diversity talent despite the billions of dollars spent yearly on diversity initiatives. These organizations are eager to recruit and employ diverse candidates but are not as invested in creating a culture of inclusion and belonging in order to retain the diverse talent they worked so hard to find. This workshop will examine the concept of inclusion and the importance of centering inclusion within diversity initiatives. Diversity is being invited to the party. However, Inclusion isn't just being asked to dance, but being asked to help choreograph that dance. This powerful professional development experience will help develop consciously inclusive communicators who can instrumental in driving inclusion forward within your own organization.